DRIVING, VEHICLE AND FIREARMS LICENCES

The following are only guidelines and all fees are subject to change, if you require further details or clarification please contact the licensing clerk.

Driving Licences

If you intend to take a driving test or lessons, either for a car, motorbike or heavy goods vehicle you must obtain a provisional driving licence from Stanley Police Station. The current fee is £12.50 and the licence will be valid for three months.

The driving test itself is conducted by police officers and can be booked on telephone number 28100. The current fee is £26.75 (non-refundable). If you pass the test your provisional driving licence can be exchanged for a full licence for an additional fee of £26.75. This licence is valid indefinitely.

Holders of a valid UK driving licence, who intend to drive in the Falkland Islands for 12 months or more, must obtain a Falkland Islands driving licence. The current fee is £26.75.

Registration and Vehicle Licences

Every vehicle that is in the Falkland Islands or imported to the islands must be registered with the Royal Falkland Islands Police. The current registration fee is £39.25.

All vehicles being used on designated roads must display a valid vehicle licence. The current annual fee for this licence is £110.25 for light vehicles, £47.75 for motorcycles and quads under 500kg, £169.75 for heavy goods vehicles. Vehicles being used on West Falklands do not currently need to be registered or licensed, however, they must be insured.

Firearms Licences

Applications for a firearms licence can obtain from Stanley Police Station. If approved the firearms license fee is currently £33.75 and is valid indefinitely.

Any person who wishes to import or export a firearm or ammunition to or from the Falkland Islands must obtain an import or export license from the Royal Falkland Islands Police. Failure to do so may result in offences being committed.

Any person who purchases, is gifted, or acquires a firearm by any other means must apply to be registered as the owner within seven days after the acquisition. The current registration costs are £17.00 per firearm.
